Princetonians Find High Cost of Entertaining Can Be Overcome by Giving Group or Block Parties

...I went over to the boathouse a little after nine, and wandered around rather ill at ease among swirls and eddies of people I didn't know—though here and there was a face I had noticed on the PJ & B. I was immediately struck by the number of young University instructors dotted about, all well dressed, all looking a little hungry, and all talking in low, earnest voices to solid and prosperous senior faculty and administrators. I was sure that they were selling something...

As soon as I arrived I made an attempt to find the hosts, but the two or three people of whom I asked their whereabouts stared at me in such an amazed way, and denied so vehemently any knowledge of their movements, that I slunk off in the direction of the beer kegs—the only place between the boathouse and Lake Carnegie where a single man could linger without looking purposeless and alone...

—With apologies to F. Scott Fitzgerald have looked like an enactment of Fitzgerald's "The Great Gatsby." In fact, it was just a modest affair hosted by six University couples, who pooled the money they might have spent on a dinner or cocktail party to hire a live band, buy beer, wine and soda, and provide festive atmosphere for about 400 guests—invited and otherwise.

The party has not signalled the beginning of a "Gatsby Look" on the Princeton social scene. But it may have been the first visible sign of a new trend in a party-giving, groups of couples or even entire neighborhoods putting on a happening greater than the sum of what each of them could have done individually.

Several weeks after the "boathouse party," as it is now known, a group of three couples from town invited about 150 guests to a Saturday afternoon outing at the Princeton Day School grounds. The group was divided into six teams and the remainder of the afternoon consisted of a "Princeton Olympics"—friendly competition in tug of war, softball, volleyball, frisbee throwing and several other more exotic games. The menu: hoagies and salad. Refreshments: Beer, wine, and soda.

Concurrently, Princeton seems to be witnessing a revival of the old-fashioned block party. (One assumes that Princeton residents of years past occasionally took to the streets for social gatherings.) This year there have been held one at Morgan Place, that cul-de-sac street's second in as many years; Madison Street, where the party went on despite a drenching rain, and John Street, just this past Saturday, expanding on a concept begun last year.

The distinguishing characteristic of all these parties seems to be that most everyone has a good time and is surprised by the fact. "Even we had a good time," said Lucy Graves, 49 Markham Road, one of the

Planning Board Approves Guidelines to Effect Sweeping Changes in Town's Business District

A planning document that officials hope will make Princeton's central business district a "true focal point of the community," serving commercial, residential and social purposes, was approved last Wednesday by the Princeton Regional Planning Board.

The plan, which proposes a major addition to Palmer Square, the development of mini malls and pedestrian plazas, and the construction of several parking garages, replaces Chapter Four of the 1967 Borough master plan. The new plan for the central business district, or CBD, will also form the basis of the CBD section in the new comprehensive Princeton community master plan, which the Planning Board hopes to adopt by next year.

The comprehensive plan will replace the Borough's 1967 plan, and the master plan formulated by the Township in 1968, with a single regional master plan. The CBD section now is essentially complete.

Expected to be adopted soon is the housing section, which is tied to the housing economic feasibility study nearing completion. Then the Board will turn to sections on community facilities, circulation and open space.

Because some officials thought the plans for the CBD were so important that they shouldn't wait for adoption of the entire comprehensive plan, the CBD section was approved as a revision of the existing plan, to give it immediate status as a master plan.

That status does not mean, of course, that the go-ahead has been given for the construction of parking garages, pedestrian walkways, or any of the other features discussed in the plan. Rather, like any other master plan, including the comprehensive one now in the development stages, this merely serves as a guide for the various zoning boards and councils in their decisions affecting land use.

Vocal Opponents. The general directions set by the plan, however, were alarming enough for some citizens to voice immediate objections. The CBD proposals, particularly the parking garage called for in the vicinity of Spring and Tulane streets, have been controversial subjects for months.

Last Wednesday several Tulane-Spring residents were on hand to demand a guarantee from the Planning Board that, if the garage is constructed, a zoning change be passed that would allow the residents to take advantage of the parking by establishing businesses or offices in the now primarily residential zone.

The Planning Board agreed only that it would consider such an amendment when and if the garage plan reached the implementation stage.

Also present at the final meeting on the CBD master plan was Borough Councilman Martin Lombardo, who has been strenuously urging that Planning Board decisions be made more open to participation by the general public. He urged that the Board sponsor a referendum on the CBD plan on the November ballot.

Conflict of Interest? Mr. Lombardo also asked that two members of the Planning Board, both Princeton architects, disqualify themselves from any financial benefit they might receive in the future from the proposed plan. The two are Hans K. Sander, the chairman, and William H. Walker, chairman of the CBD subcommittee.

Mr. Sander termed Mr. Lombardo's charge that the two have conflicting interests "silly" and "ludicrous." William Miller, attorney for the Planning Board, added that if everyone who might benefit personally from an improved community were disqualified, there would be no one left to vote.

As adopted, the new CBD provision in the Borough Master Plan specifies the following objectives:

- To concentrate commercial development in a compact area with depth rather than a long, narrow strip—planners believe that most shoppers won't walk more than three blocks, or about 1,000 feet.

- To provide adequate and convenient means for getting people into and out of the CBD—shuttle buses, connecting walkways, bicycle facilities, etc.

- To encourage retail and service functions on a small scale—maintain the 10,000 square-foot limit, with possibly one or two exceptions.

- To shift the responsibility from property owners to the Borough for development of parking spaces.

- To continue and expand residential uses within the CBD—"Zoning measures should preserve existing residential uses."

- To expand and improve public open spaces—restudy of the green in front of the Post Office, new public assembly area on Hulfish Street north of the Nassau Inn, and pedestrian ways and intermittent small plazas throughout.

- To improve vehicular traffic circulation.

- To develop concepts for areas presently used for ground-level parking—proposals include a new commercial and residential building on Palmer Square East, behind the Post Office, and another commercial and residential center on Palmer Square North, cutting off Hulfish Street.

devoted much of his Tuesday news conference to a discussion of what steps the Council would need to take next to implement features of the plan.

"We have two tabled zoning ordinances that have been on the agenda for several months," he said. "There should be action on them in the near future." The next open meeting of the board is Wednesday, August 7.

"The most difficult job will be providing an optional way of meeting the parking obligation, other than actually providing spaces on your own business location," he said. "It might be satisfied by making a cash payment to some municipal agency. But it has to be an agency with a long-range plan and rationale for assigning parking locations. Such an agency is not in existence."

Also, said the mayor, "we have to develop zoning incentives so that if a developer wants to provide an extra little goodie that the town wants we can allow him a goodie in return. We might grant permission for an extra floor in return for a pedestrian plaza."

So much attention had been paid the adoption of the CBD master plan, Mayor Cawley said, "that very little detailed thought has been given to all the proposals. These thoughts just aren't yet refined."

Buses Pondered. Attention will be focused soon on municipal improvements mentioned in the plan, particularly the south entrance to Palmer Square. He said he had no idea what the cost of that project would be but that he expected most of it to be supported from the Borough budget.

The shuttle bus to and from Jadwin Gym, on which the entire master plan for the CBD depends, according to the mayor, will be the object of immediate attention. Council, Township Committee organizers of the "Princeton Olympics." "That says something when you have a good time at your own party." The absence of hard liquor makes these affairs both less expensive and less susceptible to the noisome drinkers that plague some cocktail parties. As one who attended both the boathouse party and the Olympics commented: "The great thing about these parties was that no one was getting zonked on gin or vodka. That was a pleasant change."

Carol Atkin of 153 Parkside Drive, the woman who has made almost a career out of planning and preparing parties for area residents, had special praise for the Princeton Olympics party. "Some people might have gone there thinking they would not have a good time. But once you were on a team and let your hair down, you couldn't help but get involved and enjoy yourself."

"You didn't end up just standing around holding a drink in your hand and trying desperately to keep a conversation going," Mrs. Atkin said.

Dinner in a Basket. The traditional cocktail or dinner party is by no means a relic of the social scene, but some people are trying innovations. Mrs. Atkin handled a dinner party for 24 last Saturday night.

Dinner came in a picnic basket—made from old supermarket boxes—with four guests assigned to each basket. Couples were deliberately split up in the process. "Just unpacking the box was fun. Each one was filled with goodies, all individually wrapped," said Mrs. Atkin. "I wish Party Line could do more of this sort of thing."

Mrs. Atkin estimates that a fairly refined cocktail party—no dinner—can cost as much as $5 per person. "You can probably save money by substituting beer and wine for hard liquor," she said, "but you cannot emphasize enough how much time and imagination go into planning something like the Princeton Olympics or the boathouse party."

The genesis of the Olympics party was in the wedding reception two years ago for Michael and Lucy Graves—also held at the PDS playing fields. The Graves got together with Denny and Marcy Crimmins of 287 Nassau Street, who had been thinking about a sports-oriented party of some sort, and they all in turn got together with Joe and Mary Wisnowsky of 179 Prospect Avenue. There was Princeton's version of the Olympic committee.

Stump-Standing. The invitations told guests to arrive in certain color tee-shirts. Once at the party they joined their team and then, after a grand procession and lighting of the symbolic Olympic torch, the games and fun were on. The unusual events included a slow bike race—last cyclist across the finish line won—and a stump-standing contest—the team with the trimmest contestants must have won.

Team scores were tallied on a central scoreboard and the winning team received individual gold medals—actually gold-wrapped candies.

The idea of the boathouse party sprang from a block party about four years ago on Edwards Place. Maitland and Susan Jones, now of 66 Cedar Lane, and Pony and Lynn Fraker, 201 Moore Street, both lived there then. They joined forces with Tim and Lucy Scanlon, 86 Cedar Lane; Tom and Martha Wright, 84 Maclean Circle; Jerry and Jane Seigel, 151 Harvey Avenue; and Fred and Nancy Starr, Aqueduct Road.

"We all had people we wanted to see before the summer and this seemed the only way we could do it," said Mrs. Fraker. "We don't give cocktail parties—it's one thing I can't bear—and a dinner

How to Close a Street

If you and your neighbors want to have a block party, the first step—getting the street officially closed to traffic—will probably be the easiest. In both the Borough and Township, a formal request is nothing more than a letter stating the location of the party and the time-period in which the street needs to be closed.

The request should be addressed to Borough Administrator Robert Mooney or the Township Committee. Once the request is approved, Borough or Township officials will barricade the street at the given time. Party-goers must be prepared to allow for the passage of emergency vehicles and for the coming and going of those persons living in the block.

After that, all you need is imagination, plenty of energy, neighborhood cooperation and a smiling weatherman.

party would have been prohibitively expensive. And we all really like to dance and the boathouse was a great natural setting."

Weather Perfect. The group worked all day the previous Saturday painting banners that formed a divider between the dancing area and the boathouse lawn. The Saturday of the party they installed lights, an Army surplus parachute that served as a canopy for the band, candles that delineated the edge of the dock, helium-filled balloons that were tethered on strings and a surplus weather balloon that became a piece of floating sculpture in Lake Carnegie.

The weather cooperated perfectly, as did most of the 400 guests. A University security officer scared most gate-crashers, even though he did not actually check invitations, and at the end of the evening only one coat and several cases of beer were reported missing.

The question of the evening was whether Conrad Snowden of 184 Prospect Avenue, the assistant provost of the University, had fallen into the lake or had been pushed in. "I just took a wrong step," he insisted, dripping wet and steaming mad.

If there is a risk to these parties it may be the danger of being compared publicly to Pearl Mesta or Jay Gatsby or even Bobby Kennedy. One of the boathouse organizers refused to comment on the party. "My husband and I were saying just the other evening how marvelous it was that the newspapers didn't make anything of it."

TOWN TOPICS' version of Nick Carraway pressed on, explaining that he would have to write something about it because he had been there—even though, and he apologized, he had not been invited.

"Oh, that's alright," the reluctant subject said. "That's the way it was meant to be."

People were not invited—they went there. They got into automobiles which bore them out Washington Road, and somehow they ended up at the boathouse. Once there they were introduced by somebody who knew the hosts. Sometimes they came and went without having met them at all.

Woman Dies After Fall From Bicycle on University Campus

Mrs. Barbara Glouchevitch, 38, 184 Mansgrove Road, died at 12:10 Monday afternoon in Princeton Medical Center of head injuries which she received six days ago when she apparently fell off her bicycle on Elm Drive on the Princeton University Campus.

Her funeral will be held Thursday morning at 11 at Trinity Church, the Rev. E. Rugby Auer officiating. Interment will be private and there will be no calling hours.

Mrs. Glouchevitch, the daughter of Elliot Nugent, a well known actor, director and author, was discovered entangled in her three-speed bicycle at 7:32 last Tuesday evening by two University students. She was unconscious and her head was lying in a pool of blood.

She was transported to the Medical Center where she was operated on for fractures to both sides of her head and admitted to the intensive care unit. An autopsy has been performed by Dr. David Fluck, Mercer County Coroner.

7 FEET TALL, 134 TOMATOES...and still growing. This seven-foot plus tomato plant growing like Jack's beanstalk began as a 3-inch seedling put down by Mrs. Diana Dawes in early May next to the rear wall of her home at 100 Hodge Road. When frost came, she covered it with paper. Since then, it has shown no signs of slowing down. "I counted 134 tomatoes on it and there's more to come," said Mrs. Dawes, who added she intends to "see how far it will go." I knew I had a green thumb, but this...!"

Death Ruled Accidental. Lt. Michael Lisi said Tuesday that police were still waiting for Dr. Fluck's official written report but in a telephone call he told them that there does not appear to be any evidence of foul play. Dr. Fluck said that the victim was struck in the front forehead. Chief Frederick Porter said that police are continuing their investigation under the direction of Det. Samuel Bianco.

The mishap took place on the macadam walk on Elm Drive near the McMillan Building, the new maintenance building adjacent to the power house. The area is wide open space, police said.

Police believe there was only a seven or eight minute time lapse between the accident and discovery of Mrs. Glouchevitch's inert body. Two workmen were talking in front of the power house in view of the accident site, police said, and then went inside for seven or eight minutes. When they emerged again they noticed the ambulance nearby and the First Aid Unit attending Mrs. Glouchevitch.

Mrs. Glouchevitch was editor of the Population Index published by the University's Office of Population Research. Police believe Mrs. Glouchevitch went home, where she left all her identification, and dressed to go riding. They said she may have been heading toward the university tennis courts, where one of her sons was playing that evening when the tragedy occurred. They added that she had been a cyclist for 15 years.

She was identified some 12 hours later at the Medical Center by her son, Michel, who had called police to report that his mother had not returned home the previous evening.

Mrs. Glouchevitch is survived by her husband, Jean, whom she married in Paris in 1951; three sons, Michel 20, a student at Swarthmore; Nicholas, 18; and Philip, 14; two sisters, Mrs. Lee Gersstard and Mrs. Nancy Nugent Crawford and her parents, Elliot and Norma Nugent. She and her husband and sons were active tennis players in the Princeton community.

Born in Chicago, Mrs. Glouchevitch graduated in 1944 from the Brearley School in New York City. After graduating magna cum laude from Bryn Mawr College in 1948, she first worked in New York as assistant editor at Mademoiselle Magazine.

In 1954, she and her husband moved from Paris to Princeton where she was an editor and then managing editor for the Van Nostrand Publishing Company. She became editor of the Population Index in 1971.

Arrangements are under direction of the Kimble Funeral Home. Contributions in her memory may be made to Trinity Church.

Power Failure Sunday Blacks Out Traffic Lights and 4,000 Homes

A break in a cable splice at the corner of Hulfish and Witherspoon streets, coupled with a circuit breaker failure in the substation at Witherspoon and Wiggins, left much of Princeton borough and Township and Lawrence Township without power for as long as two and a half hours Sunday afternoon.

Nearly 4,000 homes were without electricity, street lights and traffic signals were dark, and citizens flooded the police switchboards with calls in an effort to discover why, in the absence of any probable cause such as high winds or a thunderstorm, the lights should suddenly go out. The Princeton Medical Center and Township Police headquarters both switched immediately to their own generators as a source of power.

Borough Police, who threw the switch on their emergency generator only to find that it didn't work, forged ahead in the dim light, brightened only by the flashing buttons on their telephones. "We had hundreds of calls," said one patrolman. That comment was echoed in the Township.

The trouble began about 3:44—a splice in an underground cable at Witherspoon and Hulfish. Perhaps because of water seeping into the connection, the cable short-circuited, interrupting the current flow back to the substation on Wiggins Street.

At that point, according to an official of Public Service Electric and Gas Company in Newark, a circuit breaker in the substation should have sensed the aberration in the current and opened the circuit, protecting the equipment in the substation and automatically switching the current to an alternate line.

Rare Combination. "Some of these splices have been around for years," the Public Service spokesman said, "and it's not unusual for one of them to go. When they do and the rest of the equipment is working right, you might notice a flickering of the lights. Then everything's all right."

At 3:44 Sunday afternoon, however, that circuit breaker did not open as it should have and both transformers in the Wiggins Street substation were knocked out. "That's rare when you have two pieces of equipment failing at once," the Public Service man said.

All faulty parts are being sent to the company's energy laboratory in Maplewood in an effort to determine why they failed.

The blackout affected areas in the Borough from Harrison Street west into Lawrence Township. Power was lost in the western half of the Township, up to but not including the Shopping Center.

University Okay. Power in a few homes was back within three or four minutes. Most people waited until 4:33—a 50-minute interruption of service. For families in 236 homes, the outage lasted until 6:08 Sunday evening.

The University campus, which draws its power from two Public Service substations as well as its own generating equipment, was not affected.

Just blighted hopes.
Not corn, remain

After a rainy winter and a long wet spring, the weather cycle has inevitably turned dry, and we are currently in the midst of a prolonged dry spell. "Green thumbs" and veteran vegetable-garden operators alike will tell you that many types of flowers and produce are a week or two behind schedule.

The Man said that mid-week showers were a possibility, but more the result of rising humidity than because the threat of a real drought was about to end. After that, generally fair skies and temperatures averaging in the low 80s dition was described as satisfactory Tuesday by a spokesman for the Medical Center.

Police said no reason could be ascertained for Mr. Maitlen's fall. The mishap took place at 8:16 Sunday evening in front of 396 Riverside. Township police were alerted by a call from Borough police.

6-Year Old Falls. Sunday afternoon, six-year old Charles Reeves, 28 Olden Lane, fell from his bike, police said, while riding on Olden near Oher Road.

He was taken by the First Aid Unit to the Medical Center for treatment of his injuries, which police described as slight. Ptl. David Cromwell investigated.

THREE ARE INJURED

In Two-Car Collision. Two teenage drivers and a passenger were injured late Friday afternoon in an intersection crash at Walnut Lane and Franklin Avenue.

One of the drivers, Elvina M. Tamasi, 19, 49 Erdman Avenue, was treated at Princeton Medical Center for a contusion of the head and lacerations. Her passenger, Nicholas Tamasi, 15, same address, was taken there by a passing motorist for treatment of a chipped tooth and chin lacerations.

The second driver, Sheila Servis, 18, 367 Ewing Street, complained on a pain in her leg but refused medical aid. Both cars sustained heavy front end damage and had to be towed from the scene.

Miss Tamasi was ticketed by Ptl. Mario Musso for failing to yield after stopping at a stop-sign. He quoted her as saying she had looked both ways and then hesitated to Do your house work, but don't waste energy ladies! Plan to do as much as you can in a sitting position. Plan your kitchen so that there is a minimum of walking necessary. Stand straight—it puts a minimum strain on muscles and ligaments. Bend at the knees or hips, and save your back. A ten minute rest period after every hour's work will help you get through the day less weary and more cheerful. Keep things within easy reach to avoid strain to muscles.

Improper Turn—Cracked Ribs. Thomas J. Laslo, 22, of Trenton, received two cracked ribs, contusions and minor lacerations last week in an accident in which he was charged by police with making an improper turn at Mercer and Quaker Roads. He was treated at the Medical Center.

The other driver, William W. Backes, Jr., 34, of Trenton, escaped injury but both cars sustained heavy damage. Ptl. James Vandermark ticketed Mr. Laslo for making a turn before being certain there was no oncoming traffic.

TENTATIVE EVENTS SET

For Bicentennial. In a memorandum directed to the mayors of the Borough and Township, William K. Selden, chairman of the Princeton Community Bicentennial Committee, has listed potential activities being tentatively planned for the period from April, 1975, to January, 1977.

The ideas, drawing on the contributions of about 70 volunteers working on various subcommittees, include the following:

Commemoration of the Battle of Princeton in January, 1977; development of Bicentennial curricula for the Princeton Regional Schools and other area schools wishing to participate; marking of historical buildings, a dig at the Princeton Battlefield and possibly other areas; public lectures on historically appropriate subjects.

Also proposed are a parade and community picnic on Memorial Day or July 4, 1976; an arts and crafts people's party in the spring of '76; concerts featuring late 18th century music; guided tours for visitors to Princeton; open house tours of 18th century homes.

Also rehabilitation for recreational purposes of the areas along the Delaware and Raritan Canal; and preparation of a statement tentatively entitled "The Spirit of Princeton," which would relate the heritage of the community and enunciate goals that will enhance Princeton as a place in which to live and work.

"Because the Bicentennial still seems to be months away to most individuals and to the many organizations in Princeton," wrote Mr. Selden, "and because the committee is serving primarily as a coordinating body, few definite plans have as yet been formally confirmed."

As plans are made definite, however, they will be

Countdown to '76

Like Christmas and April 15 always seem to be, the official period in which Princeton will mark its role in the American Revolution will be here sooner than you think. Less than a year, in fact.

The Princeton Community Bicentennial Committee has established the dates from April, 1975, to January, 1977, as the period of official recognition in Princeton of the Bicentennial. Individuals or organizations wishing to participate should waste little time communicating their interest to Christina Tibbals, secretary of the Bicentennial Committee.

The committee's post office box is, appropriately, 1976.

scheduled on a Princeton Community Bicentennial Calendar to be maintained at the Public Library. The committee is developing guidelines for listing events on the calendar.

"SOLID DEADLOCK"

Over Police Contract Talks. A "solid deadlock" over contract talks continues between the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association 130 police negotiating committee and Borough Council, according to a member of the negotiating committee.

The two sides, which have been talking for seven months without progress toward an agreement on a 1974 contract, were scheduled to meet again this Wednesday.

Mayor Robert Cawley said Tuesday at his press conference, "We feel that we've made fair offers to the police. Compared to other police departments in Mercer County, our police are being well paid. We've been among the highest paid in the county for years and our current offer keeps us this way."

Council is reportedly offering police a 7.5 percent salary raise, police are reported to be asking 10.5 percent.

One Concession. Members of the police negotiating committee are becoming increasingly frustrated as the deadlock continues. The only progress at all, reported Ptl. Bernard Lenhardt, one of the four committee members, is that the Council representatives, Administrator Robert Mooney and Police Commissioner Joseph Moore, have agreed to have Borough attorney Gordon Griffin sit in on the next meeting.

He explained that Mr. Moore had been arguing over technicalities concerning the terminology of the contract with the negotiating committee's attorney Frederick Schragger, and that it was occupying considerable time. "We finally got Mr. Moore to and the Joint Committee on Transportation will meet in executive session this Thursday to consider the future of the shuttle and loop buses.

Both municipalities have gone through the mechanical motions to extend the bus operation through September 21, but either bus could be terminated sooner than that if the governing bodies so desire.

Mr. Cawley said the Borough was "committed" to the shuttle, because of the role it could play in easing the downtown parking situation. "It's a lot cheaper alternative than a parking garage," he said. "We're going to make it work."

Shuttle Revision. The mayor reminded users and potential users of the shuttle bus—there are many more of the latter—that the bus now leaves at 20-minute intervals: From Jadwin to Palmer Square at 7:40, 8, 8:20, 8:40 and 9 each morning; and from Palmer Square to Jadwin at 4:40, 5, 5:20, 5:40 and 6 each evening.

"Our objective with the shuttle is to provide a break-even service at 25 cents per ride and that's still reasonable," Mr. Cawley said. "There are more questions about the loop bus but that also has shown some growth." The loop bus is likely to get close scrutiny at the Thursday meeting.

One service probably not essential to the CBD plan but still important to some citizens is the new recycling schedule. The mayor reminded residents that this Wednesday was the last day for metal can collections. Now newspapers will be picked up on the first and third Wednesdays, clear glass on the second, and green glass on the fourth.

BOHEN CONFERS WITH RODINO: Fred Bohen, Democratic Candidate for Congress from the 5th District, at a meeting in Washington with Rep. Peter Rodino, Chairman of the House Judiciary Committee. realize," Ptl. Lenhardt commented, "that Council needs to be represented by an attorney when talking to another attorney."

BOHEN ASKS DEBATE
On Impeachment Question. Fred Bohen, Democratic Candidate for U.S. Congress in the 5th District, has invited his Republican opponent, Mrs. Millicent Fenwick, to participate in a District-wide gathering of newspaper editors and reporters "to present and discuss our respective positions on this question."

Noting that the House Judiciary Committee would be deliberating the same question at this time, Mr. Bohen stated that he felt the issue to be of such great concern to voters that the views of the two candidates should be made clear.

Mr. Bohen also noted that he had long since set forth his views that enough evidence has already been made public to warrant a vote to impeach in the House. "A nation of laws is profoundly threatened by a leader who insists, at every turn, that he is outside and above the law," said the 37-year old former White House aide.

Mr. Bohen proposed a meeting early in the week of July 30 for their discussion.

Mrs. Fenwick Responds. In reply to Mr. Bohen, Mrs. Fenwick released the following letter:

"I am delighted to accept your invitation to a press conference to discuss the matter of impeachment. Although neither you nor I may have an opportunity to vote on the question, I feel strongly that the voters have a right to know our position and whether or not we are prepared to speak out without regard to political expediency, on a matter of such importance."

"Below is a statement which embodies the stand I took during the Primary and was made before I left for Italy, in case anyone wanted to know my opinion while I was away. I said then that I would vote for impeachment on the ground of the President's refusal of information to the Rodino Committee."

"The phrase 'other matters under study' refers to further grounds for impeachment which were not available to the public at that time. Information which has been published since has added further grounds, in my opinion."

June 9:
"If the President refuses the Judiciary Committee of the House (the Rodino Committee) specific and relevant evidence needed for the consideration of the case, that constitutes what I believe to be an impeachable offense in itself. Under these conditions, according to the best advice I have, and the information now—as of June 9th—available to me, I would vote for impeachment were I a member of the House."

"The Judiciary Committee is the duly constituted Committee of Congress charged with consideration of the matter of impeachment. That Committee must have the information necessary for a fair and thorough examination of the subject."

"All of the evidence they have is, of course, not open to us as members of the public. There are other matters under study. But there are two points I would like to stress: First, just as each of us is innocent all proved guilty, so also each of us stands equally subject to the law. We move away from these two principles at our peril.

"Second, all the acts revealed by the various investigations are part of a long train of similar practices. We will not advance the cause of good government if we believe that by indicting and convicting ten—or fifty—individuals, we will have solved our problems. We must devise legislation and, even more important perhaps, a public attitude that simply will not allow for the practices of which these are only the latest and most distressing examples."

ROUSE PLAN ATTACKED
For Traffic Around Mall. Rouse Company's plans for channeling traffic in and out of its proposed shopping mall in Hopewell Township were strongly criticized last Thursday evening at another in the series of meetings being held by the township's planning board.

The board will meet again this Thursday with Rouse officials at 7:30 at Hopewell Valley Regional High School. On Thursday, August 1, the public will have an opportunity to ask questions.

Herbert Klar, a former state traffic engineer retained by the planning board to study the traffic situation, stated that Rouse's proposed access roads on Routes 31 and 546 and the Pennington-Lawrenceville Road should be totally redesigned to include two overpasses.

Rouse has suggested two sets of signal lights on Route 31 for two entrances to the mall, but Mr. Klar criticized the curve of the approach lanes, saying, "some motorists just won't make the bend in the road and will ride up onto the island."

The overpasses would cost Rouse $750,000 apiece, but would reduce auto pollution because the cars would not need to stop at the traffic lights. Mr. Klar pointed out that Rouse change its single entrances planned for Route 546 and the Pennington-Lawrenceville road to dual ones with U-turn loops on each to permit drivers to change directions.

Mr. Klar estimated the mall traffic at about 3,500 cars during the peak hours between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. during Phase I. The total would rise to 22,000 cars when the mall is complete.

Rouse officials indicated they would respond to Mr. Klar's study at the meeting this Thursday.

Impact Insignificant. A Chicago real estate expert retained by Rouse testified at the hearing that both this mall and the Quakerbridge Mall under construction on Route 1 in Lawrence Township would have an "insignificant impact" on the downtown Trenton Commons.

Ross Campbell said he has begun an evaluation of Trenton's downtown stores, sales and consumer buying habits for Rouse. The results will be ready in about three weeks.

Mr. Campbell added that the Rouse Mall is being built about six-to-seven years too late. He pointed out that Mercer County is an untapped market, because it has no regional shopping centers.

In his testimony, Campbell sought to counter the remarks made earlier in the week by Eugene V. Howard, president of the Trenton Commons Commission. Mr. Howard had claimed that the Rouse Mall represents a "potential threat to Trenton's economic life" and he urged the city council not to sell water to Rouse.

THEFT REPORT
Shoes, Honda and Beans. A pair of shoes, a Honda motorcycle and a bag of beans were among the items police reported stolen last week.

The shoes, a $28.95 pair of brown suede waffle stompers, were taken Monday shortly after noon by a shoplifter at Hult's, 25 Witherspoon Street. He was described as 16-17, wearing a blue shirt, bluejeans, sneakers and a pony tail. Ptl. Bernard Lenhardt investigated.

Jeremiah P. Ostriker, 105 Fitz-Randolph Road, told police that his $1200 Honda motorcycle had been stolen from an open garage in the rear of that address between 3 p.m. Saturday and 2 p.m. the next day.

The bag of beans, valued at $1.58, was taken last week from the Acme Market by two boys, age 10 and 11.

They were caught by manager Russdell Wheeler and turned over to Township police, who processed them and released them to their parents. Chief Frederick Porter reported that the boys had been observed acting suspiciously in the store.

Vacuum Pump Stolen. A $185 vacuum pump, weighing between 150 and 200 pounds, and a tool box valued at $50 were stolen last week from an equipment shack at the Broadmead Swim Club on Broadmead.

Leo Jasien, a lifeguard who discovered the theft, told police that barbed wire atop a cyclone fence at the rear of the property had been cut. Police believe the thieves climbed over the fence, forced the door of the shed and then managed to lift the pump over the fence.

C.A. Audet, 694 Prospect Avenue, reported the theft of his $280 Rolex wristwatch and wallet.

They were removed, police said, from the victim's trousers which were hanging in the men's locker room at the Community Park pool complex. The theft took place Friday between 5:30 and 6:30.

A German Ivy plant was reported stolen from a front porch table last week by Mrs. Alice Schaffter, 16 Park Place. No value was placed on the plant by the victim, police said.

STREET REPAVING SET
In Township. Not wanting to waste any time implementing a street resurfacing program, Township Committee met in a special session at 5 o'clock this Monday to approve a bid for the job. Councilmen William Sutphin, Abbot Low Moffat and Margaret Broadwater, plus the Township administrator and deputy clerk, met to approve the low bid submitted by Pierco Inc. of Somerset.

The $20,565 job involves restructuring parts of the following streets: Alexander, Stuart Road, Riverside Drive West, Great Road West, Mountain Avenue, Deerpath and Grover Avenue.

One spectator—not a Township resident—observed the proceedings.

Committee also approved a resolution to amend budget preparation procedures; approved a resolution to make available $3,150 as its share of the loop bus cost through September 21 if the loop bus is continued; and approved the taxi license applications of two new Telebus drivers: Charles H. Read, 28 Hillside Avenue, and Peter W. Wetzel, Ricer Road, Belle Mead.

HOME IS ENTERED
On Shady Brook Lane. The home of Dana Hamel, Shady Brook Lane, was entered sometime last week by a thief who stole a roll of pennies and ten half-dollars from a rear bedroom.

Township police said the bedroom window screen had

she is menacingly Junoesque; as an ardent seductress she out-Carmens Carmen; when she curses the Board of Education for having made her too intellectual to live with a mao, she is exaggeratedly human. Not for a moment when she is on stage can one be indifferent to her; and her gift for the trenchant speech or the crushing rejoinder is monumental.

Daniel Berkowitz is continuously delightful as Harry Berlin, the little man who feels he was forgotten when Fate handed out talents and rewards. His performance is full of variety, from abject misery to rigid physical seizures, from violently ineffectual love-making to a neglected husband's petulant temper.

Richard Ferraggio plays Milt, the man who claims to

CAN THIS BE LUV? Alice White as Ellen Manville and Richard Ferraggio as Milt Manville rediscover their love in a scene from Murray Schisgal's comedy "Luv," directed by Robert Schmon Jr. of Summer Intime. The play continues this weekend at Murray Theatre.

Summer Intime has come up with a brilliant revival of Murray Schisgal's hit comedy, "Luv." It can be seen at Murray Theatre this week from Thursday through Sunday, July 25, 26, 27, 28.

Schisgal satirizes the cult of fertility and suffering. Three people with as little to live for as Harry Berlin and Milt and Ellen Manville think they have could easily be the basis of a somber tragedy. That in fact is how they see themselves; Harry prepares to end it all by jumping from a bridge; Milt and Ellen secretly carry knives to murder, if necessary, for release from their unhappy marriage.

Yet Milt tries to encourage his old friend Harry: find love, between the natural and the absurd, and the director, Robert Schmon, Jr., has taken every opportunity to bring out the comedy visually.

Mr. Schmon's last previous directorial assignment was on the one-act plays "Adaptation" and "Next" for Theatre Intime last fall. Then, as now, he disolved a talent for directing comedy, treating exaggerated situations with utter naturalness, dead-panning the absurd. (Has any wife ever documented her husband's failure as a marriage partner as graphically as does Ellen in the first act of "Luv"?)

Alice White plays Ellen. Miss White has been hereabouts in many roles, often secondary ones, always capably performed. As Ellen Manville, to put it briefly, she scintillates. As a wronged, vengeful wife that will give you something to live for. Marvelous afterthought: if Harry can be made to fall in love with his wife Ellen, she might give Milt his longed-for divorce.

Harry meets Ellen in the most comical wooing scene I can remember. It is followed by an even funnier one in which they test each other's love by one indignity after another, climaxed by his throwing her mink coat into the river.
Constant humor. These are but two of many priceless sequences which kept opening-week capacity audiences laughing steadily. The dialogue zigs and zags have made a success in life but who is disillusioned whenever he takes a wife. His bluster and his pathos are equally comic, and he contributed mightily to the pace of the play by his energetic timing.

The trio are a stellar cast, and an audience cannot help loving them.

Charles G. Stone, II, and John K. Paine have created a simple and atmospheric set, dominated by the parapet of a suspension bridge. Add a street lamp, two benches, a sandbox, a wire trash can, and a river seen only by its splash when bodies jump or fall into it.

"Luv" is great fun. Even the contents of the trash can are good for laughs. If you have lately contemplated jumping from a bridge or bumping off your spouse, see the play first. It will keep you smiling while you perform the fateful deed. —Herbert McAneny

PORTER TUNES REVIVED

A "Midnight" Cabaret. Popularity hasn't ruined Summer Intime's Midnight Cabaret, but it has forced the organizers of the Saturday night revue to use poetic license in their title. This week's Midnight Cabaret, featuring an Evening of Cole Porter originally scheduled for last week, will have two showings, at 11 p.m. and 12:30 a.m.

The early showing has already been sold out. Doors will open to the public for the second show at 12:15.

Coordinated by Mitchell Ivers, the show features a number of Porter's best known songs, such as "Anything Goes" and "Bein' The Beguine," as well as lesser known numbers that are rarely performed today. Performers include Alice White, Robert Schmon, John Vennema, Ernie Norris, Denise Scutter and D'Arcy Achziger.

RACHEL, REEFER...

At McCormick. The Summer Intime Film Series continues next week with three films, all playing at 7:30 in the McCormick Art Museum on the University campus.

Monday's film is "Rachel, Rachel," with Paul Newman making his debut as a director and his wife, Joanne Woodward, and Estelle Parsons starring. Tuesday's showing will be "Reefer Madness," the 1936 anti-marijuana "documentary" that has been an underground classic for the past several years. It is considered a brilliant example of propaganda film tactics.

On Wednesday Intime will present "The Great Catherine," based on Shaw's one-act comedy and starring Zero Mostel, Peter O'Toole and Jeanne Moreau as Catherine the Great. It was directed by Gordon Flemyng.

FINAL CONCERT SUNDAY

In Summer Series. The final concert of the Princeton University Summer Chamber Concert series will take place on Sunday evening, with a performance by the Cleveland Quartet with Gervase de Peyer, clarinetist.

The Cleveland Quartet has already established itself as one of the most important chamber music ensembles in America. Its debut was made at the Marlboro Music Festival in the summer of 1969, and from that year until 1971 its members were Artists-in-Residence at the Cleveland Institute of Music. In the fall of 1971, the Quartet accepted an invitation to succeed the Budapest Quartet as Artists-in-Residence at the State University of New York at Buffalo, one of the most prestigious positions in chamber music.

Gervase de Peyer is one of the world's foremost clarinetists, and a "regular" of the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center. He has appeared as soloist with nearly all the leading orchestras in England as well as the Melos Ensemble of London, of which he is a founding member. In recent years, he has performed in joint recitals with Yehudi and Hepzibah

SHUTTLECOCKS TO BIKES
At Sports 'n Things. Whether you're in the market for a shuttlecock or a 10-speed bicycle, the chances are excellent that you'll find it at Sports 'n Things in the Montgomery Shopping Center.

By carefully selecting a limited number of lines, owners John Sutton and Peter Rice have managed to cover most sporting areas and yet keep their store spacious and uncluttered.

Last January Consumer Reports gave its highest rating to the Fuji bicycle, and these as well as some by Follis and Itala are at Sports 'n Things in models from three-speeds on up to elaborate 10-speed racers. There are also children's bicycles by Nishiki and the prices start at approximately $54.

The bike repair shop looked busy and Mr. Rice expressed pride in their service. Not only will they pick up and deliver the bikes, but they stress quick repairs. Most anything can be fixed within three days, and something like a flat is usually done within a day or two.

The repair shop is staffed by Mr. Rice and two teenagers who are outstanding Junior and Intermediate racers. They have a definite interest in bikes and they apply their knowledge of a bike's internal working to whatever repair is needed.

We saw lots of accessories, too, from pumps, baskets, reflectors and headlights to a small tool kit specifically made for bikes, trouser hands, wall racks for holding bikes, and an instant sealant that repairs flats in seconds (a necessity in every biker's pack).

If you are interested in bike touring, you will want to look at the Cannondale bikepacks. There is a pack for the handlebars, rear rack and seat, and each is made of water-proof nylon, can be attached in seconds and has a separate carrying handle, $5.50 to $12.50.

Sports 'n Things also has larger frame backpacks, swim As with all sports, all sleeping bags, outdoor stoves, the accessories are here too: freeze-dried food, hiking boots, and much more camping equipment.

Tennis Section. The tennis department is another active section of this store where we saw rackets by Spalding, Head and a new line called PDP. Mr. Sutton told us that this new aluminum racket was designed by a man who used to work for Head. It has a wide throat which gives greater control and eliminates the winter vibrations some metal rackets give when the ball is hit.

Mr. Sutton strongly favors this new PDP racket and willingly gives you a ball to try it out against the wall in back of the store. It costs $44 unstrung and oil filled nylon is another $10. Sports 'n Things does its own stringing and re-gripping in a one-day service.

Tennis clothing is here too beginning with Puma or Converse shoes on up to Head in bikes and they apply their knowledge of a bike's internal working to whatever repair is needed. Stag that can be teamed with a white ribbed body top trimmed with navy piping by White Stag that can be teamed with a

The clothing section also has White Stag's speedo swimsuits in styles for racing as well as a women's conventional two-piece. These comfortable nylon suits come in bright colors and patterns, and the prices range from $4.50 for a boy's to $22 for a woman's.

In addition, there is a Speedo mini-mate with a "string" top, and co-ordinated pants and tank tops for after larger frame backpacks, swim As with all sports, all sleeping bags, outdoor stoves, the accessories are here too: freeze-dried food, hiking boots, and much more camping equipment.

To give a general overview, Sports 'n Things has equipment for golf, fishing (including live bait), archery, badminton, croquet, baseball, hockey and much more. Currently there is a 15 percent sale on baseball gloves, and a 30 to 60 percent sale on hockey equipment—a perfect opportunity to prepare for next department was begun and here we saw brushes, saddle soap, veterinary liniment, fly protector, bridles, and clothing such as hats, jodphurs, boots and shirts.

Then in the fall pool and ping pong tables will be added. However, the store currently has raquets, balls, and all the Minnesota Fats accessories.

Before leaving this store we took a look at its extensive hobby department. There are airplane, rocket and plastic car model kits, and for the more advanced model maker a line of individual parts that includes wheels, hook-up wire, line connectors, mounting bolt sets and fuel pumps.

For assembling all these tiny parts, Messrs. Sutton and have stocked the Omega precision tools. The hobby section also has HO scale trains, Aurora AFX racing sets, candle making kits and kites from a one dollar plastic baby hat to a colorful large butterfly, $8.

Sports 'n Things is at the Montgomery Shopping Center on Route 206 North, and the store is open Monday through Saturday from 10 until 6 with Thursday and Friday evening hours until 9. In September the 10 to 2 Sunday hours will resume.

News of the Theatres

S*P*Y*S*. A mindless slapstick farce that opts for one-line put downs which never rise beyond the Don Rickles level. Any similarity between S*P*Y*S* and M*A*S*H—beyond the fact that both have four letters and three asterisks, and both star Elliott Gould and Donald Sutherland—is non-existent.

Gould and Sutherland are re-teamed as a pair of bungling CIA Agents in Paris, but their inspired mating in M*A*S*H doesn't travel well in the face of a slapdash collection of one-liners and low slapstick. The string of situations begins with G & S being mistaken for another pair of CIA agents marked for extinction by their corrupt agency head.

When they bungle the defection of Russian athlete—who's been promised an introduction to Linda Lovelace by the U.S. government—they find themselves pursued by both the CIA and the Russians, so they proceed to link up with a gang of anarchists headed by Sutherland's old girlfriend.

Before long, the Chinese get into it and the picture degenerates into slapstick chases, nationalistic insults and general tedium. In short, S*P*Y*S* is a major disappointment, a juvenile farce closer to "Abbott & Costello Meet the CIA" than anything else.

MONTGOMERY.
Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid. It's been five years since the first release of this film that first combined the talents of Paul Newman, Robert Redford and director George Roy Hill, who later scored again in "The Sting."

In Butch Cassidy the old myths of the west are kidded in a way that humanizes the heroes. Redford (The Sundance Kid) and Newman are characterized as anachronisms and no longer able to elude the law of the U.S. They take off for South America with the school teacher friend of Sundance and rob banks in Bolivia until the army traps and shoots them down.

What makes the film superior is its many levels. There is farce, satirical humor, poetic lyricism—achieved through some breathtakingly beautiful scenic views, quaint charm, first rate acting throughout—and the magic chemistry of Redford and Newman.

been pried to gain access and the room searched. The theft was investigated by Det. Samuel V. Bianco and Ptl. Jerry Offredo.

$340 Taken from Purse. Borough police report that a 73-year-old John Street woman had $340 stolen from her purse.

The victim discovered the loss, police said, when she went to get the money from her purse in the kitchen to pay a bill. Also taken from the purse were a silver charm bracelet valued at $300, a $600 diamond wedding ring and a $100 ruby ring. Police said the purse was left behind.

Book Taken. A Stanworth Lane woman told police Thursday evening that she was sitting in her living room around 9:30 when a youth forced open the screen door of her apartment.

Seeing the room occupied, he fled but not before grabbing a canvass bag containing several sociology books. He was described as about 19, tall, wearing blue trunks trimmed in yellow, and no shirt.

PENNINGTON LASHED

By Winds, Lightning. A short but violent rain and lightning storm toppled limbs and trees in Pennington last week and left parts of the small community without power for periods ranging from an hour to more than 12.

Power went out shortly before midnight Thursday when a large tree next to Howe Nursery on Main Street was toppled and fell against utility wires, snapping a pole. The winds seemed to cut a diagonal path across the town, leaving areas covered with fallen limbs and others nearby unscathed.

The Episcopal Church next to the nursery was without power for more than 12 hours. Half of a large Pennington Market sign facing Route 31 was blown across Delaware Avenue to the Shell Station.

TWO LOSE LICENSES

For Careless Driving. Two 19-year old drivers had their licenses revoked for 30 days and were fined $50 by Judge Philip Carchman Monday in Borough Court.

Pleading guilty were Philip Davies, 203B Kingston Terrace, and Harold J. Campbell, 15 Hope Valley Drive, Cranbury. Paying $20 fines for careless driving were Lucille Lowrance, 37 Southern Way, and William J. Benfer, 23 Benford Drive, Princeton Junction.

Those fined for speeding were Marianne Donath, 40 Balcourt Drive, $19; Bernard S. Loeb, 59 Stetson Way, $15; Edward C. Giamo, 21, 49 Longview Drive, $15; Lelia W. Bullitt, Canal Road, $15; and Mark M. Friedman, 72 Tee-Ar Place, $35.

Others: Ralph P. Thayer, 114 Spruce Street, driving without lights, $15; Lawrence J. Schaney, Mulford Lane, Belle Mead, red light, $20; Christopher Gould, 212 Brown Hall, following too closely, $10 court costs ($10 fine suspended); and Robert Serrell, 39 Lovers Lane, $10, failing to cross in a crosswalk.

Township Court.

In Township Court last week, Judge Carchman fined Lawrence Cruser, 183 Linden Lane, and Carmen L. Carrasquillo, Canal Road, $30

each, for failing to keep right. Louise M. Hollander, Raymond Road, Kingston, and Joseph E. Bordash, 111 Patton Avenue, each paid $20 for an improper turn. Mr. Bordash, in addition, was fined $30 as an unlicensed driver.

For careless driving, Wilson

H. Kehoe, Lawrenceville Road, was fined $20. Roslyn E. Mayers, 41 Adams Drive, paid $10 court costs after Judge Carchman suspended a $10 fine. She was charged with a stop sign violation.

CYCLIST LOSES BAG

To Pursesnatcher. A Ewing Street bicyclist in her 20s riding on Hamilton Avenue Thursday evening had her brown leather shoulder bag grabbed by a purse-snatcher.

Police said that a man stepped up to her bike near the intersection of Walnut Lane, pulled the bag from her and fled. The victim tried to keep her balance but eventually fell. She was later treated at the Princeton Medical Center for a fracture of a small bone in her left foot. The victim lost about $18 in cash, police said. Captain Theodore Lewis commented that the victim was preoccupied with keeping her balance and was unable to get a good description of the thief.

TEENAGER CHARGED

With Indecent Exposure. A Rocky Hill teenager is free on $250 bail after being charged by Township police Friday with indecent exposure.

Jonathan B. Gray, 18, 10 Toth Lane, allegedly exposed himself to a woman and a small girl at 11:55 a.m. while sitting in his car parked on Walnut Lane between Valley Road and Guyot. He was apprehended a short time later in front of Bamberger's in the Princeton Shopping

FRED BOHEN SAID TO HIS REPUBLICAN OPPONENT, "LET'S TALK IMPEACHMENT"

This week, Fred Bohen wrote to his opponent. He called on her to take a stand on the greatest Constitutional crisis of our time. Richard Nixon. So far, the only clear thing she has said is that Nixon has shown "bad taste". To Fred Bohen, that's playing it safe. And evading the issue.

People know where Fred Bohen stands. He thinks Richard Nixon should be impeached, on the basis of the massive evidence already on record. But he also thinks that the voters of the 5th District should be able to draw their own conclusions. And they should know where their Congressional candidates stand. So Fred Bohen wrote his opponent this letter, excerpted below:

July 19, 1974

Dear Mrs. Fenwick:

Having read varying accounts of your treatment of the issue of the President's impeachability during your recent press conference in Morristown, I write to suggest that we agree to appear together before the press to present and discuss our respective positions on this question.

The House Judiciary Committee will be starting its review of the evidence bearing on the possible impeachment of the President next week. The magnitude and implications of this time of judgment are self-evident. For this reason, I feel our assessments of the evidence presently on record are of real concern and importance to the voters of this District.

While honoring your evident intention to review materials that have become public while you were in Europe, I believe the time has come for candidates, no less than incumbent members of the House, to provide the public with a clear view of their assessment of the available evidence, and their reasons for favoring or opposing impeachment.

I look forward to your early, and hopefully affirmative, reply to a proposal that I believe to be in the interest of our respective campaigns, and even more importantly in the interest of the citizens we each seek to represent.

Yours sincerely,

Fred Bohen

FREDERICK M. BOHEN

On Monday afternoon, Mrs. Fenwick accepted Fred Bohen's offer. So as the Judiciary Committee deliberates in Washington, the candidates here in the 5th District will also meet - to define and discuss their views on impeachment.

Fred Bohen's initiative worked to create this forum. Initiative is what Fred Bohen offers.

Bohen.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Re: The governor's proposed income tax.

I am against it. In essence, I cannot afford to support the Federal government, the State of New York, the State of New Jersey, and the City of New York.

I am tired of being "ripped off" by ever-escalating sales taxes on top of ever-inflating prices. I am tired of stripping myself bare to pay bloated college tuition fees and then receiving pleading appeals for gifts to these institutions.

I get sick when I look at the quotations for the few stocks I still own. I get sick when I read of 8 percent interest, tax-free, short-term to big investors, with 7 percent, taxable, long term to smaller fry.

I know that the sorry mess the big New Jersey cities are in today is due, in major part, to the venality of former political bosses and the stupidity of a complacent electorate. I know that the lower East Side of New York produced doctors and lawyers in the early 1900's, while New York's "better" schools today produce youths who cannot write a simple declarative sentence.

I know that added tonnage of visual aids will not make engineers of pupils who have neither the discipline nor desire to learn.

I know that property taxes and state income taxes have nowhere to go but up, despite the sales pitch now.

I work six days a week, Governor,—running all my might to stay in the same place. Get off my back!

Integrity at Stake.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Governor Byrne termed the Assembly's recent passing of a state income tax measure a demonstration of "courage and vision." By any measure of thorough and intelligent analysis, tax reform including an income tax is clearly needed for New Jersey.

However, I can recall that during his campaign, Candidate Byrne (for whom I later voted) implied most strongly that New Jersey does not need an income tax. This, of course, was in response to his opponent's very explicit position against such a measure.

In effect, Candidate Byrne resorted to manipulative hypocrisy in order to gain votes. He was equally clever regarding his position on the new Sports Complex. I can recall former Governor Cahill's campaign "pledge" that if elected, he would never again practice law. He is now practicing law in Princeton.

The merits of an income tax measure notwithstanding, there is a greater if not trite issue at stake; namely, integrity of elected officials. At a time when trust in such officials is virtually nonexistent, Governor Byrne has arrogantly deceived many of those who voted for him.

In so doing, he will find that such former supporters will turn on him at the polls—not because they oppose the substance of his tax measure but because they are disgusted with the wishy-washy deception of those who pledge one thing and do another. Are the parameters of political integrity so wide that any means to achieve an end is acceptable?

Letters to TOWN TOPICS' "Mailbox" should be typed, doubled-spaced, signed and received for publication no later than Monday. No letter will be printed without a valid signature and address. poor reason for their removal. How can people come into this town to shop if there are no people to wait on them, since there are no parking spots for their employees? The town should take into consideration these people also. I have been taking the shuttle each day and it is a great inconvenience.

What if some emergency develops at my home during the day? How can I get to my car without going through a great hassle? It is too far to walk to this parking lot.

There should be some other solution to this problem than what has been done up to now. Maybe the next time they try to do something with the parking in this town they will have some consideration for the employees of this town who spend their money here.

Since the removal of the 10-hour meters, the parking lots have not been full one day, so there must be plenty of parking for those shoppers who come into town. If all of the people who worked in this town did not spend any of their money in this town, the stores would lose a lot of business. The employees should take this into consideration, since the town does not seem to want us to work here.

"Fair Share" for Ballet Here.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is a copy of a letter sent to five members of the New Jersey Assembly and to Senator Anne Martindell: I wish to call your attention to Senate Bill No. 1078 which is now in the Assembly Appropriations Committee. This Bill, in its present form, establishes an appropriation of $75,000 for the New Jersey State Council on the Arts to enter into contract with The Garden State Ballet (a private institution) for its activities, as "...an appropriate organization..."

I must apprise you that the Princeton Ballet Society is also "...an appropriate organization..." The Princeton Ballet Society, a non-profit organization, is in your represented constituent area and has been serving central and south New Jersey since 1963.

It is the largest Ballet School in New Jersey with an enrollment in excess of 600 students. It is also the only Regional Ballet Company in New Jersey recognized by the National Association for Regional Ballet. The Regional Company has over 75 dancers from 32 different towns and 13 studios in central and south New Jersey.

Recognized for its own professional productions such as its annual presentation of the Nutcracker Ballet which also tours the areas, it is also responsible for bringing to the area such outstanding professional companies as Alvin Ailey, The Joffrey Company and the Batsheva Dance Company. In addition, for many years the Princeton Ballet Society co-sponsored with McCarter Theatre The Dance Event Series, which brought many important names in the dance world into the area.

10-Hour Meters Mourned

He also noticed, he said, green vegetation on the driver's seat and a marijuana butt on the ground outside the car.

Amphitheater Vote

There will be no vote by the Mercer County Park Commission on the controversial $3 million Bicentennial amphitheatre for several weeks, until a study of its environmental impact on the county park is completed. A vote had been expected this week.

The amphitheatre has met with strong opposition from West Windsor officials and residents, who have suggested, among other things, that it be situated in Princeton's battlefield park. A site in downtown Trenton has also been proposed.

The New Jersey Historical Drama Association, a Princeton-based non-profit group, wants to build the 2,500-seat outdoor theatre as a place to stage its Bicentennial production, "In Freedom We'll Live." If it is, the drama association would pay all construction costs, and deed the facility over to the county at the end of the 10-week run.

served northern New Jersey while Princeton Ballet Society has provided a most commendable service to the central part of New Jersey.

Presently we have four proposals with the New Jersey Arts Council for the 1974-75 year which you might want to formalize yourself with, or if you desire, I'd be happy to send you copies. Also, we have contacted 94 separate New Jersey-based Art foundations in an attempt to solicit support from private sources as well as the Arts Council. If you wish greater documentation of these facts, I will be most pleased to provide them for you.

The New Jersey Arts Council as the appointed body given the responsibility for appropriating funds to the Arts in the State should be solely responsible for determining the overall qualifications and needs of each artistic group for the State's financial support, and should allocate these funds based on their examination of all the facts.

I strongly implore you to act so that the Princeton Ballet Society will also be included for its fair share of support from the Arts Council.

President, Princeton Ballet Society

Dr. Smyth Awarded Medal for Nuclear Statesmanship

The first medal established in the United States for "Nuclear Statesmanship" was given to Dr. Henry DeWolf Smyth, 5 Lafayette Road, West, Professor of Physics, emeritus, at Princeton University. Dr. Smyth served from 1961 to 1970 as U.S. Ambassador to the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna.

The Henry DeWolf Smyth Award, a gold medal bearing the bust of Dr. Smyth and the title "Nuclear Statesman," was established jointly by the American Nuclear Society and the Atomic Industrial Forum and will be awarded periodically in the future. Officers of these two organizations presented the medal to Dr. Smyth today at his home in Princeton.

The first recipient of the medal was cited for "outstanding services to the people of the world in developing and guiding the uses of atomic energy in constructive channels." Among his long list of achievements in the nuclear era cited in the award was Dr. Smyth's most recent role in the late 1960's in obtaining international acceptance of a safeguards system, "a vital prerequisite to negotiating the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty" of 1968.

Dr. Smyth served from 1949 to 1954 as a member of the United States Atomic Energy Commission, and from 1935 to 1949 as Chairman of the Department of Physics at Princeton University.

In August 1945, one week after the end of the Second World War, the United States Government published Dr. Smyth's official report on the development by the U.S. of the first atomic bomb. The "Smyth Report" became known world-wide as the introduction to the international significance of the nuclear age.

Philip Mistry, 16 Kory Drive, July 16.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hegener, 30 Armour Road, July 17; Mr. and Mrs. Giovanni Colantuoni, Princeton Arms, Cranbury, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Watson, 20 Lisbon Avenue Trenton, and Mr. and Mrs. Nanu Patel, Hampton Arms Apts., Hightstown, all July 18; Mr. and Mrs. Niles T. Meltesen, 62 Elmton Road, Trenton, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hunt, Marshall Court, Hopewell, Mr. and Mrs. James Dunn, Fieldboro Drive, Trenton, and Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Di Meglio, 47 Wildwood Road, Trenton, all July 19; and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Himics, R. D. 1, Skillman, July 20.

USE VARIANCES SOUGHT

In Zoning Applications. Two religious organizations will seek a conditional use authorization Thursday night before the Borough Zoning Board.

Christ Congregation, corner of Walnut Lane and Houghton Road, will ask for such authorization from the board in behalf of the Nassau Co-Operative Nursery School. The school, which had been housed in the Friends Meeting Home on Quaker Road, plans to use the church facilities five days a week from 9 to 3. There will be five staff personnel and a maximum of 25 children. Off street parking would be provided on the premises.

The church has received both favorable site plan review and a favorable use report from the Regional Planning Board. The church is located in a residential-three zone.

The Jewish Center, 435 Nassau Street, has purchased an old home adjacent to its property formerly used by the Tax Institute and wishes to use it for offices and meeting rooms.

Because it is located in a residential-two zone, it needs a conditional use authorization. The Jewish Center has also received favorable site plan review and use recommendation from the Regional Planning Board.

In a third application, Ms. Joyce Usiskin, an attorney, wants to erect a free standing sign in front of an office she has rented at 145 Witherspoon Street.

Her law office is located in the rear of the second floor of a building owned by the Nassau Street Corporation. She needs a variance for size and placement. The zoning ordinance prohibits free-standing signs in a residential-business zone and limits their size to 72-square inches. Ms. Usiskin's measures 108 inches on either side or 216.

THREE ARE FINED

For Assault. Three Princeton residents were fined for assault last week by Judge Philip Careman in Borough criminal court.

James Miller, 21, 7 Lytle Street, was fined $60, and Stanley Kline, 32, 54 Harris Road, and Anthony Cipollina, 844 Alexander Street, each paid $25. The latter two had accused each other of assault. All three pleaded not guilty.

Edward Fitzell, 18, of Jamesburg received a five-day suspended sentence in jail, was fined $60 and placed on probation for one year for being drunk and disorderly.

He also received a one-year probation pending conditional discharge for possession of marijuana. Charles I. Robertson, 18, 466 Mt. Lucas Road, was fined $25 and received a six-months conditional discharge for possession of under 25 grams of marijuana.

MUSICAL PROGRAM SET

For Y's Weekly Luncheon. Sharon Alexander, Princeton artist, will sing this Thursday, at the regular luncheon program for senior citizens at the YMCA.

The program will begin at 12:30 p.m. and welcomes any of the area who wish to come. There is no charge. Participants should bring a sandwich for an informal luncheon, beverage and dessert will be provided.

Ms. Alexander is a graduate of Westminster Choir College and will attend the Philadelphia Music Academy in the fall where she is preparing for a career in opera. She will be accompanied by David Agler.

The Thursday luncheon programs have been continued from the school year and meet each Thursday through August 15. Bus trips and other programs are planned as part of the luncheon and senior citizens are reminded the loop bus stops at the YMCA.

Major Renovations to Witherspoon and Frick Head Active Building Program at University

Interior renovations at Witherspoon Hall, a 97-year old Princeton University Dormitory, under way for more than a year, will be completed this summer at a cost of nearly $1 million. The project is, with major modernization of Frick Laboratory on Washington Road, the most extensive in the building program on the campus this summer. Contractors and University craftsmen are also completing numerous other major maintenance jobs here during the three-month vacation.

A $220,000 addition to the Third World Center will provide a large multi-purpose meeting room, a game room, and additional rest room facilities at the former Osborn Club House at Olden and Prospect, which now serves as a social and cultural center for black and other minority-group students.

Renovation of the former Cannon Club on Prospect Avenue to house the Office of Population Research is also nearing completion. While retaining the building's shell and much of its fine wood interior paneling, completely new plumbing, electric, heating, and air conditioning systems have been installed during renovation of the former eating club into an academic building.

The building at 5 Ivy Lane, formerly used by Population Research, will house the University's Conference Office and offices of the Continuing Education Program. Space at 70 Washington Road, also now used by Population Research, will be adapted for classroom facilities.

Safety Upgraded. Many campus improvements this summer involve upgrading of safety standards, according to Jon D. Hlafter, Director of the Office of Physical Planning.

Additional smoke detectors are being placed in several office and laboratory buildings; emergency lighting and/or alarms are being installed in McCosh Hall, Campbell and Joline dormitories, and New South; smoke detectors are being placed in Frick Laboratory; fire doors are being added at Princeton Inn College; at McCarter Theatre some stage rigging is being replaced and railings are being installed along above-ceiling catwalks.

At the 185 Nassau Street building, safety ventilation is being improved in studios where hazardous fumes are a problem. And in Baker Rink, additional plexiglass is being installed to protect spectators during hockey games.

In addition to the usual modifications to office space and laboratory areas (especially in Green Hall, Guyot and Moffett), there will be modest expansion of the clinic area in McCosh Infirmary, improvements in the McCarter Theatre workshop area located in the Armory, including space for the costume shop and classrooms for a theater design program, and upgrading of lounge areas and some suites at Princeton Inn College.

The Guyot-Moffett renovations, which will continue into next year, will include construction of an electron microscopy suite and other work expected to total some $500,000. The recent fire there will involve further unanticipated renovations.

Improved Kitchens. Improvements will be made in the kosher kitchen at 83 Prospect Avenue, in the kitchen at Commons, in the kitchen at Jadwin Gymnasium, and in the refreshment stands in Palmer Stadium. A study is underway, Mr. Hlafter said, regarding a major modernization program for the Commons food serving area.

Roof repairs are underway at a number of buildings, especially Dod Hall; heating improvements are being made in several dormitories; stone work on the exterior of Commons is in the first stage of a major repair project; Women will get a locker room and shower facilities at the boathouse rowing tank building; a sauna is being installed in Jadwin Gymnasium; new lighting is being placed on Poe Field.

HELP FOR TROUBLED WOMEN: Three volunteers from the Princeton chapter of Birthright, the organization that seeks to aid unwed women who choose not to have abortions, inspect some of the maternity clothes at the group's office at Thompson Court, 195 Nassau Street. From the left they are Mrs. Maryanne Brophy of West Windsor, Mrs. Corinne Cieslin of East Windsor, the director, and Mrs. Dorothea Heinzel of Drake's Corner Road. Birthright will soon have to move from its current location. The group gives free pregnancy tests and accepts donations of maternity clothes and baby clothes and equipment for distribution to unwed mothers.

Meanwhile, at Witherspoon, workmen are rushing to complete the renovations of that dormitory by Labor Day. Last year two stairwells were rebuilt with a connecting hallway on each floor, thus providing two state-mandated means of egress from all rooms and suites; a sprinkler system was installed and additional bath facilities built. In the general refurbishing of the interior, the top floors were repartitioned and new plumbing and wiring installed. Some work was done on the middle floor. This summer, the same work is being continued on the lower floors and finishing work is being done throughout the building. Construction costs on Witherspoon are pegged at $900,000.

At Frick, new safety ventilation systems are being completed and laboratories and offices are being upgraded. Improvements are also being made to electrical service.

While work on the main auditorium in Frick, renamed the Kresge Auditorium in honor of Sebastian S. Kresge, founder of the foundation contributing the major funds ($1.5 million) for the modernization project, will be completed by the time classes start in the fall. Other construction will continue through the spring. The total Frick project is expected to cost some $3 million.

OFFICE SPACE SOUGHT

By Birthright Group. The Princeton chapter of Birthright Inc., the organization that seeks to provide assistance for women with unwanted pregnancies but who do not want abortions, is seeking office space for its operations. The group has worked for the past two years in donated space at 195 Nassau Street which will soon be occupied by other tenants.

Mrs. Corinne Cieslin, director of Princeton Birthright, said the group needed at least one room, large enough for a desk and rack of maternity clothes, but could ideally use two rooms. The group currently stores baby equipment in a basement in Princeton Junction, an inconvenient location.

In a press release, Mrs. Cieslin described the organization's background and objectives:

Birthright was started in Princeton by some boys from Princeton University and Trenton State College, who felt from talking to their girl friends, that there was a definite need in the community for an organization just like ours. We opened up our door to the public in October, 1972, and since that time, we have helped 61 women and girls to have their babies, in essence our objective is the people who could not accept same: to save the unborn. We exist by the grace of the proper state or local or religious agency which will help them; we give them maternity clothes, baby equipment, cribs, carriages, layettes, etc., and love, which is the thing most of these girls really need.

We direct our clients to the proper state or local or religious agency which will help them; we give them maternity clothes, baby equipment, cribs, carriages, layettes, etc., and love, which is the thing most of these girls really need.

Not Political. We have done more than 400 pregnancy tests, and answered thousands of phone calls. We also offer free LaMaze instructions in natural childbirth. We do not charge for any of our services. If a client can't come into the office, we'll meet them most anywhere.

We are not a religious organization, we are not affiliated with any religious group. We have no political cost us $110 per hundred. We have practically no money. We spend what we have on postage, telephone, and advertising, and pregnancy test kits, which cost us $110 per hundred.

GAMBLING? NO!

Say County Republicans. Casino gambling shouldn't be allowed in New Jersey, the executive committee of the Mercer County Republican Committee has decided. The committee recommends a "no" vote on the public question in November.

W. Harry Sayen, chairman of the county's Republican Committee, says casino gambling would attract "the very element we in New Jersey have been trying for the past half-decade to discourage: the criminal, gangster types. We are particularly talking about loansharks and their enforcers."

Casino gamblers, Mr. Sayen points out, can borrow from loansharks, whereas the race-track betters don't have access to ready credit if they lose.

He also cites the cost of enforcement, and the estimated amount of intake: $15,000,000 for Atlantic City, which he characterizes "a mere dribble for tax purposes."

Picnic for Senior Citizens (Free) Will Be Held Thursday, August 8

"Senior Citizens' Picnic." The Chairman on an evening of free food, fun and entertainment, under the auspices of the Borough and Township Commission on Aging and financed by Landau's women's apparel store, will be held on the campus of Princeton University on Thursday, August 8, from 4 to 8. All residents of Princeton Borough and Princeton Township 62 or older are invited.

Reservations must be made by August 1 by phone or in person either at the Borough Health Department, 924-3407, or at the YWCA, 924-4825. Those planning to attend should give name, address and telephone number and should state whether they need transportation to the campus. The picnic will take place in front of McCormick Hall, the University's Art Museum, south of Nassau Hall.

Through the courtesy of Leslie Vivian, Director of the Office of Community and Regional Affairs, and Stanley Adelson of the Personnel Department, Matthew Maxwell the University's official host for campus functions, will serve as host for the Senior Citizens' Picnic. Under Mr. Maxwell's direction, campus traffic guards at the entrance next to the First Presbyterian Church will admit cars going to the picnic and drivers will let passengers off at the Picasso statue on the lawn in front of McCormick or at "Prospect." Cars will not, however, be permitted to park on the campus for the evening.

Guests are urged to arrive early so that they may visit the Art Museum before closing time at 5 and enjoy a stroll through the gardens of "Prospect," (the former home of the University's presidents). In case of rain, the picnic will be held at "Prospect." Singing and entertainment will follow the hot-dish supper which will be served at tables around 5:30 to 6.

Transportation to the picnic is being offered by the Kiwanis Club. Landau's is dedicating the proceeds of one day of its annual summer sale to underwriting the cost of the party as a service to the Senior Citizens of Princeton.

Anthropologist Ashley Montagu points out that women are constitutionally stronger than men, although muscularly weaker. They withstand stress better.

New scalpel has been devised in Japan, promises bloodless surgery. It uses jets of gases heated to high temperatures and charged with electricity. Hasn't been used on humans yet, though.

Two Swiss scientists have found a natural "sleep factor". Drawn from the blood of one sleeping animal, it can induce sleep in another. They've analyzed the factor and are working to synthesize it.

Here's an amazing football fact about George Blanda that's often overlooked...In the 24 years that Blanda has been kicking points after-touchdown in the National Football League, he's missed only 10 kicks in all that time, or less than one every two years! Blanda has made 855 points after-touchdown, which is the all-time football record.

Here's one of the strangest fish stories of all-time-and this one is supposed to be true, according to several books. A man named Peter Paulson tried to catch a whale many years ago but his harpoon line snapped, and with the harpoon still in the whale, the whale got away...But 13 years later, and thousands of miles away, he landed the same whale...He knew it was the same whale because it still had the harpoon with Peter Paulson's name on it still imbedded in its side...What are the odds of catching the same whale twice in 13 years in an enormous ocean?...The story has been checked and verified and proves again that truth is often stranger than fiction.

What are the most home runs any major league player ever hit in one month?...The most is 18-hit by Rudy York of the Tigers in August of 1937...No other big leaguer has ever been able to hit more homers in any month in history.

UNSEEDER PLAYER WINS

Takes Women's Singles Title. Sabina Havkins, a second-year student at Douglass College, won the women's singles of the Princeton Open Tennis Tournament last week when she defeated the no. 4 seed, Joyce Clark, in the finals, 6-4, 6-0. Miss Havkins was unseeded.

She eliminated top seeded Carla Gaiser, winner in 1970 and a frequent finalist, in the semi-final round, 6-4, 7-5. Laura Goldfield, seeded no. 2, lost to Clark in the other semi-final match, 6-1, 6-1. Other players reaching the quarters were Mary Ellen Hirst, Trice Zenzie and Connie Flemming. In an early upset, unseeded Joyce Greenberg defeated fifth seeded Brenda Campbell, 6-3, 6-2, and then bowed to Havkins in the quarter-finals, 6-4, 6-4. Gaiser, Hirst, and Campbell are currently ranked 5th, 8th and 9th respectively in New Jersey.

The women's doubles with a draw of 46 started Saturday. The teams of Nina Moyer and Betty Constable, and Joyce Clark and Rosemary Lewis are seeded one and two.

Deadline for the mixed doubles event is this Thursday. Applications may be obtained at the public courts or at the Community Tennis Office, 71 University Place.

PLAYOFFS UNDERWAY

In Adult Softball League. The best-of-three playoffs among the top four teams in the Adult Softball League began this week.

Conte-Staats, which won the regular league race with a 15-1 record, is opposing fourth-place Italian-American Sportsmen Club. Conte won the playoff championship last year.

In other action, Ivy Inn, last year's league champion, and Teague and Hinds, are facing each other. Both teams finished with identical 13-3 records.

The two survivors will clash in a best-of-five series to determine the league champion.

POST 76 GAINING

In PYBA Little League. The pennant race in the PYBA Little League tightened last week as Post 76 won both of its games to move to within a game of Engine Co. 1, which lost to the steadily improving Roma Eterna.

Don Johnson was the winning pitcher and contributed two doubles as Post 76 clobbered UAL 380. Tony Pittman hit for the cycle with two home runs, Chip Kleiher had a double and a homer, and Ian Broadwater and Peter Nelson each had two hits for the

In Business Softball Play. There were no surprises during this week's play in the Princeton Business Softball League as the top six teams stayed right where they were a week ago, with only three weeks left in the regular season.

Cities Service trusted in its defense and the superb pitching of Bill Reynolds to knock off National Computer Analysts, 11-8. Star hitter for Cities was Ken Cichoki who had a three for four night at the plate.

 ramped to an easy 25-7 victory over United Jersey Banks, as Willie Turner returned to action with a 4-5 night and a home run. ETS had strong hitting across the board with Jerry Murphy (4-5), winning pitcher Chris Wynings (5-5), and John Barone (5-6). Dave Heath also hit the long ball for ETS, and Rick Hudson put one over the fence for United Jersey Banks.

Led by Dave Tessein's timely grand-slam home run, The First National Bank of Princeton inched by ERC, 9-8, relying for the second week in a row on the last half of the last inning batting of catcher Bob Sherer to cinch the win. With the score tied at eight all, and the bases loaded, Sherer forced an error which brought home the winning run for First National. The win was marked by the fine defensive play of shortstop Tim Kearns, and home runs by ERC's Bob Heinz and R. Dudgeon.

Ang Vasti pitched McGraw Hill to a 7-3 win over Geophysical Fluid Dynamics Labs and helped his own cause with a 2-3 hitting night. Teammate Bruce Beloven had three safeties in four attempts.

Grand Slam Hit. A grand slam by Bill Faulkner and another homer by Tom Hummer started Firmenich on its way to a 16-5 drubbing of American Cyanamid. Faulkner had a 3-5 night with the bat, as did Bob Pagano, while Tom Callaghan hit 3-4.

Bob Elkins was the winning pitcher in a fine effort for Firmenich. Jim Carnes' perfect form helped RCA (A) bombard Ingersoll Rand Research, 24-5. Murray Woods and Ed Gudusky were 3-4 for the night, with Gudusky hitting what has become his weekly home run, and making the win an easy one for pitcher Ron Henderson.

Meanwhile Wayne Johnson, Mount Vernon Washington and winning pitcher Stan Cygan all combined with home runs for North American Phillips Lighting to swamp RCA(B), 33-11. And finally, Forrestal Research Center put a good hitting effort together with a strong defense handicapped by a lack of bases to defeat Princeton Day School, 11-6.

Four teams, Cities Service, Educational Testing Service, The First National Bank of Princeton, and RCA(A), with possibly Firmenich as an additional team, from the Princeton Business Softball League have been invited to participate in the ASA-South Jersey Industrial Slow Pitch Softball Tournament this Saturday and Sunday to be held in Ewing Township.

The double elimination tournament features the best teams from southern New Jersey, and high scores and tremendous hitting is virtually guaranteed. Each team plays until it is defeated twice, and there is a good possibility that this year's finals could end up an all-Princeton contest. Last year's winner was McGraw Hill from this League.

WEST WINDSOR DROPS 2
In Babe Ruth League, West Windsor's hopes for the second-half title in the Mercer County Senior Babe Ruth League went down the drain with successive losses to Pitman Moore and Hamilton VFW. The first-half victors have two more games after this week's all-star tournament break. The championship series should follow next week.
West Windsor, which has come from behind frequently to win past games, looked like it might perform the same feat against Pitman Moore. It tied the score at 5-all in the top of the seventh inning. In the bottom of the seventh, however, P-M's Pete Hansen reached first on an error and moved to second on a sacrifice.
Rob Cieliecki singled home the winning run off Jim Wetterling. Fred Wilson tripled and singled for West Windsor. Don Hutchinson singled twice and Steve Jones smashed a double, but winning pitcher Bruce Ekmeder got the big outs when he needed them in the seventh inning.

John Miller produced Tiger Garage's second one-hitter of the week, as he blanked PB & T, 7-0. Miller tripled in the first inning to drive in two runs, and Seagers hit safely three times. Evan Press spoiled this no-hit bid with a Texas League fly into center field in the third inning.
Thorne kept itself close to Tiger Garage in the closings with a 9-1 victory over PBA. John Boccanfuso struck out seven and added a double and single to the 11-hit Thorne attack. LaPlaca had three hits and six RBIs, and Dave Shillaber and Rick Johnson had two hits each. Lee Goehring had two hits for the losers.

Mark Cuhberley held West Windsor in check on Saturday, as the Hamilton VFW triumphed, 5-1. Windsor threatened in the seventh, scoring a run on singles by Jones, Eric Jahn and Wetterling. After a walk loaded the bases with only one out, Cuhberley regained his form and struck out the next two batters.
John Madden relieved Sean Fenske in the first inning for West Windsor.

In PYBA Ruth League, in what has become a see-saw battle for first place in the PYBA Babe Ruth League, Tiger Garage regained the lead with three victories last week. The Garage beat Princeton Bank & Trust twice and knocked Thorne Pharmacy into a second place, one game behind.
Paul Soderman pitched a one-hitter against Thorne, striking out seven enroute to a 3-0 Tiger Garage victory. Jim LaPlaca broke up the no-hitter with a two-out single in the fourth.
The Garage received more strong pitching against PB & T. Tony Opperman threw a four-hitter and added three hits of his own in the first game, won by the Garage, 9-3. Thompson also had three hits

6-MONTH INCOME DOWN

At Two Banks Here, United Jersey Banks has reported income before securities transactions and cumulative effect of a change in accounting method of $4,954,000, $92 per share for the six months ended June 30. This compares with $5,685,000, or $1.06 per share, for the same period last year.

Net income, after losses of $400,000 on the sale of securities, was $4,554,000, $.85 per share through June 30, 1974 compared with $5,817,000, $1.08 per share for the corresponding period in 1973.

The net income figure for a share in 1974 compared to 91 cents a share in 1973 after a securities loss of $37,000. Total deposits stood at $473,000,000 at the end of June compared to $452,000,000 a year ago. Demand deposits, however, dropped from 209,000,000 last June to $201,000,000 at June 30, 1974.

Edward A. Jessor, Jr., UJB chairman, attributed the earnings decline to "the dramatic reversal in the downward trend of short-term money market rates and the worst inflation we have had in many years." He added that, "system-wide efforts to increase our deposits and curtail lending should have beneficial results in the second half of the year."

Horizon Earnings Also Dip

Horizon Bancorp has announced that income before securities losses for the first half of 1974 was $1,972,000 or 74 cents per share compared to $2,384,000 or 93 cents per share in 1973.

Net income after securities losses of $126,000 was 69 cents a share in 1974 compared to 91 cents a share in 1973 after a securities loss of $37,000.

Total deposits stood at $473,000,000 at the end of June compared to $452,000,000 a year ago. Demand deposits, however, dropped from 209,000,000 last June to $201,000,000 at June 30, 1974.

Mr. Lehmann noted that nearly a year ago the Corporation reorganized along divisional lines corresponding to the major markets served. He commented that the current assignments will further improve the effectiveness of that organization, and in particular will facilitate the assimilation of the Company's Electro-Optical Instrument Division (formerly SSR Instruments Company) which was recently removed from Santa Monica, California to the main plant in Princeton.

How do you measure the true value of a house?

Is air conditioning an option?

Not at Regent's Park. It comes with your home—without an extra charge. Our Cluster Homes come complete with self-cleaning range and range hood, A huge refrigerator-freezer, dishwasher and disposal. You get the best of everything. Right down to sparkling ceramic tile in the bathroom.

Is the neighborhood as nice as the house?

Regent's Park is pretty enough to make your heart sing. Lots of open space everywhere. A lighted bicycle path and play area for the kids. A planned pool. And something a lot of communities don't have—the quaint shops of Mount Holly only 4 blocks away. And large shopping centers and good schools within walking distance.

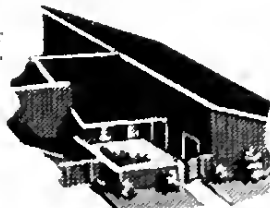

The cluster house. It measures up and beyond.

Is cost per square foot important?

Look at it this way. Our cluster house gives you more actual living space and more modern living conveniences than some single homes. Now that's value. And that doesn't even include our basement, which at your leisure can be transformed into a recreation room, study or dark room. Or all of them.

Do you have a large entry court?

Our entry courts are large enough to hold a small party, and private enough to leave out your neighbors. You probably won't. But at least you have a choice.

Can you select a floor plan?

At Regent's Park we give you five different models to choose from. Choose one with two bedrooms and one bath. Or one with two bedrooms and two baths. Or with three bedrooms and two baths. One with a fireplace or without a fireplace. Choices and more choices. With any plan you choose, you'll get good one-floor traffic flow.

The Cluster Houses of REGENT'S PARK In Mount Holly

Directions: I-295 to 541 exit or New Jersey Turnpike to Exit 5 (Mount Holly 541) 2 miles east on 541 to 4th traffic light, turn right on Levis Drive to Regent's Park. Samples open daily 11-7. Phone 609-261-1146

A simply beautiful Colonial is nearing completion on Pretty Brook Road, on one of the most secluded lots in the Township. The entrance hall is quite breathtaking with its large paned window on the stairway. All the rooms are large (over 4,000 square feet of living area). In addition to the beautiful living room with formal fireplace and the family room with floor to ceiling red brick fireplace wall, is a library. Back stairway to avoid traffic in the formal areas. Upstairs are five very large bedrooms; two of which could be master suites. The builder (one of Princeton's best) is now ready for personal touches. This is the perfect house for a large family and it will be completed in time for school in September.

We have two lovely four bedroom Colonials in West Windsor, one is within walking distance of the station priced at $65,900 and the other a little more rural for $62,900.

Exquisite lot on Cherry Hill Road near Ridgeview, dozens of large dogwoods, excellent percolation for a building permit. This lot is an architect's dream.

NIGHT OIL

Here is a beauty treatment that's tissue-light to the touch, yet so rich it replenishes the natural oils and moisture the skin loses every day. You'll notice the difference the minute it touches your skin. A crystal-clear liquid, it smooths on easily and absorbs so readily, you can use it just before retiring.

NIGHT OIL is suitable for use on all skins except the very oily. It should be applied to a clean skin at bedtime. You'll awake to a softer, lovelier complexion.
